BREAKS ARM IN FALL FROM TREE

Donald Wilson, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilson, suffered a painful fracture to his right arm above the elbow early Christmas Day when he fell from a tree while swinging on it. The youngster had the fractured limb placed in a cast, but this week had to have the cast removed due to severe swelling. It is expected the cast will be replaced this week end.

Westworths Leave For Crossfield

This is First Time Mrs. Westworth Has Ever Resided Out of Coleman; Purchase Restaurant at Crossfield.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Westworth, Arthur and Kathleen left during the holidays to manage a restaurant at Crossfield, Alberta, which Mr. Westworth recently purchased.

They have resided in Coleman many years. Mr. Westworth enlisted in Calgary during the First Great War and following the close of hostilities came to Coleman where he gained employment with McLaren Lumber mill. He later entered the employ of McGillivray Creek and in 1923 married Miss Nan Gillespie, daughter of Coleman's two old-timers, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gillespie. In 1924 he entered the employ of the Empire hotel and worked there until a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Westworth first came to Coleman in 1907 with her mother and two sisters, joining Mr. Gillespie, who had arrived in Coleman a year earlier. This is the first time that Mrs. Westworth has taken up permanent residence in any town outside of Coleman.

Mr. Westworth was a member of Summit Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and Mrs. Westworth was a member of Minerva Chapter, O.E.S., for a number of years was active in the Pythian Sisters and held office in the Coleman Girl Guides.

Their son Arthur was in the RCAF and graduated with his wings.

Their many Coleman friends wish them the very best of luck in their new business venture. A number of social events were held in honor of the couple.

HOME FROM THE EAST

DOUG. JENKINS
who was also a member of the cruiser Ontario. He arrived home two weeks ago and is the guest of his father, Robert Jenkins.

Doug was one of the three Coleman men to walk aboard the cruiser at Belfast, Ireland, when the Canadian government received the boat from the Belfast shipbuilding yards. He remained with her till she docked at Esquimalt on Nov. 27 last.

Grands Defeat

Blairmore Bearcats In First League Game

Facing a 2-0 deficit well in the third period Coleman Grands suddenly came to life to out-play their Blairmore Bearcats opponents to wipe out that deficit and go on to win 4-2 in their first game of the newly organized Crows' Nest Pass intermediate league on Saturday, Dec. 21.

The game was marred by penalties, there being fifteen in all, including a major and misconduct. There were so many players in the penalty box in the third period that two additional penalties were delayed in order that the required number of men might remain on the ice.

Being the first game for either team play in the first two periods was a little ragged although both goalkeepers made some marvelous saves. "Moose" Giacumuzzi put 'Cats one up with a shot just inside the Grands' blue-line late in the second period.

The same player shot from inside his own blue-line early in the third period to put his team two up. Penalties then started to marr the game and it was here that the turning point of the game was made. Blairmore made an error in icing the proper number of players and it was found they had a player more than they should on the ice. A penalty shot was awarded Coleman and Bill Field made no mistake in beating Sekina.

This was all the encouragement that Grands required and Biegum, Fraser and Joyce rapped home three beautiful goals during the remainder of the period to out-play Bearcats and skate off with a 4-2 decision in their first league game.

Blairmore: Sekina, Giacumuzzi, Veprava; Hobson, Kubic, Petrosky; Kamik, Aldrich, Galicia.

Coleman: McDonald; Joyce, Bieun, Mozell, Lant, Field; Fraser, Cykto, Omlusek; Wasnie, Moores. Referee: J. Kubasek. Linesman: Bill McLeod.

Miss Helen Webster, of Nelson, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Emmerson during the Christmas holidays. Pat, Emmerson, of Calgary, was also visiting her parents during Helen's visit.

Business Men Honor 'Rip' At Social Evening

Presented With Golf Bag, Golf Balls and Sum of Money; Many Pay Tribute to Rip's Sterling Qualities.

On Thursday evening, Dec. 20, Coleman business men and some of the professional men gathered in the banquet room of the Grand Union hotel to pay tribute to W. L. Rippon, who had just recently retired on pension from the employ of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Sid, Short was chairman.

The chairman took advantage of the excellent attendance of business men to prevail on them to form a merchants' association and thus help themselves as well as helping the community. He told of the advantages of having such an association in town or a chamber of commerce or board of trade, and what it would mean in progress to the community. He gave credit to the Lions club, tennis club, hockey club for keeping Coleman's name to the fore. Turning to the honored guest he described him as a monument of solid citizenship, a monument of moderation and good influence in every community activity and a man who had never said an ill word against another. He paid deep tribute to Mr. Rippon and Mrs. Rippon for their interest and support in the community.

Other speakers who paid Mr. Rippon tribute were Jim Kerr, Alex Balloch, Percy Dickenson, Harry Boulton, George Derbyshire, D. E. J. Liesemer, Bob Pattinson, Wilf Dutil, Jack Chalmers, Bill Cole, Sonny Richards, Adam Wilson, Walter Pettifor and Joe D'Apollonia.

The new bank manager, Mr. Duncanson, stated he had known "Rip" since 1920 and would do his best to try and fill Rip's shoes at the local bank. Rip, he stated, was well known among all provincial bank managers and senior officials of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and was esteemed by them all.

By the time it came for Mayor Frank Abousay to make the presentation the mayor's prepared little speech had been torn asunder by those made by previous speakers. However, he praised the honored guest's community work and on behalf of the business and professional men of the town presented him with a handsome golf bag, six golf balls and a sum of money with which to buy clubs.

In replying to the presentation and tributes paid him by his friends Mr. Rippon stated that only three men remained in business today that were here when he first set foot in Coleman in 1919. He reminisced about the old days here.

He spoke in favor of a merchants' association and told of how even today with good times being experienced some merchants were allowing customers to run bills up to $400. He told them they were playing with disaster and to think back to the tough times experienced before the war.

Coleman, he said, would always be the "old home town." He and Mrs. Rippon were leaving, but remaining were their daughter, Lorraine, and her family, and a little plot on the hill that would always be a part of him. He and Mrs. Rippon planned on making periodic visits to Coleman once they (Continued on Back Page)

The Text Explained With Comments

How Peter Was Called to Preach to Gentiles.—Read the earlier verses of this chapter. Peter called the messengers in and lodged them over night in the house of Simon the tanner at Joppa, where he was staying. On the third day he took them with him and went to the home of Cornelius in Cesarea. He realized that the action he was taking of going to the home of a Gentile would be criticized by the strict members of the Jerusalem Church, and therefore he took men with him as witnesses.

At the home he found many of Cornelius' kinsmen and friends awaiting him. Peter, from Cornelius' behalf, told him he had been sent for him. "Now therefore," Cornelius told him, "we are all here present in the sight of God, to hear all things that have been commanded thee of the Lord."

Cornelius, Lord is Lord of All. Acts 10:34-42. The solemnity of the occasion and the weightiness of Peter's words are indicated by the words with which they are introduced: "And Peter opened his mouth and said: To you is the word of the Christ preached. Of a truth, he said, 'I perceive that God is no respecter of persons; but in every nation that he heareth him and worketh righteousness, is accepted of him.'"

He is the secret of the resurrection and the ascension. "For a truth, he said, 'You yourselves know the story of what took place in the days of Jesus.' You yourselves know the secret of what took place in the days of Jesus." Peter declared, "and we are witnesses of all things, of his life—how he went about doing good of his crucifixion and resurrection, and how he charged us to preach the gospel to every creature. Testify that he is ordained of God to be the Judge of the living and the dead!"

And Peter ended his sermon by saying that every one—even Gentiles who believed on Jesus should receive for-giveness of sins.

Does Job Efficiently

British Forces in Occupied Germany Has Best Administered Zone

It is no secret at all that the most efficient administration in occupied Germany is the British. The British professional soldier takes to administration of an occupied country with a measure of objectivity. His habits of mind derive from an imperial tradition. To administer a subject people with paternal solicitude, to extemporize in an economic emergency, this is a way of life which comes instinctively to most Britons and especially to the educated professional soldier in whose mind command is identical with responsibility for the welfare of those whom he loves orders. These men can't help looking after anyone whose life is placed in their hands. The job gets hold of them, and they are happy and efficient in doing it.—Ottawa Journal

Industrial Hygiene

To Insure Working People Against Occupational Hazards

Establishment of a Division of Industrial Hygiene in the Saskatchewan Department of Public Health is the latest news from the Division of Industrial Hygiene in the province. Ottawa has equipped a laboratory for his use in the Legislative Building, Regina.

The Department of National Health and Welfare is co-operating with us in the establishment of the new division by lending to the province the services of Mr. G. W. Rogers, M.A., of the Federal department's Division of Industrial Hygiene at Ottawa, and by equipping his laboratory for his use," Mr. Douglas said.

"The Division of Industrial Hygiene will be available for consultation with workers, management, unions and public health authorities on occupational health problems, and will be able to carry out the necessary chemical analysis and recommend proper measures for the control of dangerous substances encountered in industry," Mr. Douglas continued. "Inquiries are invited."

"A great many of the substances used or handled in present-day industry (not excluding agriculture) are quite unfamiliar to most people handling them. These substances may cause obvious injury, occasionally of a severe nature, of more frequently they may have effects that are apparently mild and often remain unrecognized. The latter kind of effect, due to its inscrutable character, may cause considerably more economic loss than the more spectacular injuries."

"It must be emphasized that in virtually all cases it is possible to take proper precautions that will insure the safety of persons handling these materials. It is the intention of the Department, through the Division of Industrial Hygiene, to insure the safety of working people against any of the occupational hazards to which they are exposed."

Mr. Rogers is a native of Toronto. He entered the University of Toronto in 1933 with matriculation scholarship in mathematics. He was graduated in 1937 in physics and chemistry and then received a B.A. degree in chemistry. In 1940 Mr. Rogers completed a special course in industrial hygiene at the Harvard School of Public Health under Prof. Philip Drinker.

In January, 1942, Mr. Rogers joined the industrial hygiene division of the department at Ottawa when the staff was expanded to discharge wartime responsibilities of the Federal Government in safeguarding the health of employees working in war plants.

In addition to factory inspection and laboratory determinations of exposure of workers to harmful substances, Mr. Rogers has conducted during the past year a paper describing his work on methods of determining methyl alcohol vapor in air, and carried out research on a new method for the measurement of other solvent vapors in workshop atmospheres.

Last year Mr. Rogers was active in founding the Canadian Association of Scientific Workers and was first chairman of the Ottawa branch.

Gets Empire Award

Creator Of "Herbie" Cartoons Has Been Decorated

W. G. (Bing) Coughlin, whose cartoons of "Herbie", the little Canadian sapper with a faculty for getting into trouble, were the delight of the Canadian army overseas, has been awarded the decoration of Member of the Order of the British Empire, it was shown in a defence headquarters' decorations list.

No specific award was given but the award apparently was in recognition of C.S.M. Coughlin's work on the "Herbie" cartoons which appeared regularly in the Canadian army newspaper Maple Leaf. They showed "Herbie" in the Italian mud, in the invasion and in Germany and most of the time he was getting into jam or another.

Canada's Parks

Have Received High Praise In A Book Published In New York

Canada's National Parks in the Rockies and Selkirk Mountains have come in for some high praise in a book entitled "The Rocky Mountains" recently published by the Vanguard Press of New York. The author is Dr. Wallace W. Atwood, President of Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts, well known outdoorsman, geographer, geologist and educator. Here in part is what Dr. Atwood says in a final summary of a chapter devoted largely to Canada's mountain playgrounds:

"The Canadian parks are remarkable in many respects. These who were the first to explore the mountains must make how in the movement are take place the huge layers of rock are contorted into anticlines and synclines, and how they are broken and crushed as they move slowly upward, and in this case eastward, may see examples of these phenomena from the saddle, or from the seat of an open car. There is probably no inland body of water that surpasses, in beauty of setting, Lake Louise, forty-seven miles into the mountains from Banff. There is no other place easily accessible in North America where large, glaciers and ice fields are so easily visited as in the region of Mt. Athabasca and the Columbia Icefield. These places are now within walking distance from points on the Jasper-Banff highway. "There is more to see in these great reservations than anyone can absorb in a single journey—mountain structures, mountain flora, and mountain fauna. There is wild game in these parks, surpassing anything easily available to the lovers of the out-of-doors, who cannot organize great pack-train expeditions into wilderness regions. It is not difficult to see to their natural beauty the Rocky Mountain goat, elk, moose, mule, deer, black, brown, grizzly bear, cougar, and coyote.

"The mere hardy individuals who will spend a few days in the saddle and camp out in a wilderness region, may visit some of the most beautiful high-mountain country in the world, areas that cannot be seen from the roadways. They will have a series of "close-up" intimate experiences never to be forgotten."

Here is a fascinating description of the mountain world that will be read by tens of thousands in all parts of the English speaking world, and which should do much to make better known many of the outstanding geological features of Canada's mountain playgrounds.

CHURCHILL'S DOUBLE

Bill Somerville, third violinist in the Lyric Corner House Restaurant orchestra, here Trafalgar Square, London, has been given a special knighthood by King George VI.

It is claimed that his name was the most noted sculptor of his time, and examples of his work are found in Westminster Abbey, St. George's Chapel in Windsor Castle, and in many other national shrines. He sculptured George III, and the Prince of Wales who became George IV; four Prime Ministers—the Duke of Wellington, Canning, Perceval and Pitt, also Charles James Fox; Lords Abercorn, Castlereagh, Egmont, Egerton and Liverpool; David Garrick the actor, and Lawrence Sterne the author. He also created many beautiful groups.

Nollekens was noted for his masterly habits and died wealthy at age of 86.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Health LEAGUE of CANADA

presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

PASTEURIZATION CAMPAIGN NEEDS CITIZENS' HELP

If concrete results are to be expected in the current nation-wide campaign for compulsory pasteurization of milk, the average citizen must do something about it, Dr. Gordon Bates says in an editorial in the current issue of "Health," official magazine of the Health League of Canada of which organization Dr. Bates is the general director.

The editorial urges all Canadian citizens to join the campaign where pasteurization is not compulsory (all except Ontario) to write to the Health League for literature on the subject and for a copy of a resolution which can be submitted for approval of any voluntary organization to which they belong.

Dr. Bates emphasizes that if a sufficient number of citizens banded in voluntary associations get behind the movement, members of provincial legislatures will know that their constituents really want some action.

"Act today," the doctor advises. "Don't wait. Don't let it be on your conscience that you have a chance to save human life and did nothing."

Stating that the physicians of Canada desire Dominion-wide compulsory pasteurization legislation, but that there are only about 10,000 doctors in a population of 11,000,000, the editorial emphasizes it is up to the average citizen to say to the legislators they have elected that such legislation is desirable.

Was Great Sculptor

But Name Of Joseph Nollekens Is Almost Unknown

The Canadian Press distributed a dispatch from London which told of the variety of things being advertised for in the newspapers. Among them was one asking for a book, "The Life and Times of Nollekens," and the Correspondent added the query "Who was he?"

His full name was Joseph Nollekens, and he was born in London in 1737. His father had a small shop, and it is claimed that his name became the most noted sculptor of his time, and examples of his work are found in Westminster Abbey, St. George's Chapel in Windsor Castle, and in many other national shrines.

He sculptured George III, and the Prince of Wales who became George IV; four Prime Ministers—the Duke of Wellington, Canning, Perceval and Pitt, also Charles James Fox; Lords Abercorn, Castlereagh, Egmont, Egerton and Liverpool; David Garrick the actor, and Lawrence Sterne the author. "Act today," the doctor advises. "Don't wait. Don't let it be on your conscience that you have a chance to save human life and did nothing."

Three tokens are ration exchange for a nine-inch slice of veal steak or outlet. This purchase will provide serving to be breaded for Sunday dinner, as well as the basis for Monday's stews. On Tuesday a parsey omlet, quickly prepared goodness so appreciated by the single, will keep you up to date with the meatless day fashion in restaurants. A token's worth of sausages on Wednesday will be generous enough to provide a hearty meal.

Dr. Bates emphasizes that if a sufficient number of citizens banded in voluntary associations get behind the movement, members of provincial legislatures will know that their constituents really want some action.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

LOVE AND LIPSTICK

By LYNN TIGORE

Copyright Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

HER eyes were green, accentuated by upswung lashes exactly the shade of her burnished mahogany hair. It was rolled high, front, looped low on the nape of her neck. Her complexion was all that an advertising writer might claim for his pet cosmetic account. Yes, Rena Shelton was a beauty.

But a girl selling beauty products as a rouge, powder, eye-shadow and lipstick in a giant New York department store would have to be all that. Competition in the cosmetic business was fierce and so was competition in love. Rena had learned something of competition in love when she fell for Jack Crops, a handsome young arm of the law, assigned to traffic duty on the corner near which she lived.

One icy morning, Rena slipped on the street, was terrified as traffic skidded about her. She might have been killed except that Jack was there to halt a truck thundering in her direction.

Her knees were bruised and cut, the hand with which she tried to retrieve her purse was bleeding. Jack insisted on calling an ambulance.

"Better get those cuts cleaned up properly. No use taking a chance on infection."

In the course of his duty, Officer Crops got all the facts concerning his charge. Name, address, age, occupation, married or single?

He said, "I'll look in on you later. Just to make sure you're okay. My name is Crops—Jack Crops," he added.

THAT evening as Rena lay in bed at home in the apartment she shared with Flo, a package arrived from the florist, American Beauties. The card said: "With My Heart In Beside Them."

Later Jack Crops called in person, and sat by her bedside. He had brought a container of soup and a ready-cooked chicken. When Flo came in from work she joined the fast.

A mutual love and admiration swept Rena and Jack rapidly toward the altar. He was sweet, generous and understanding, the most attractive man she'd ever known. She was not a little annoyed to discover that other women found Jack attractive, too.

Rena knew herself to be the possessive type and she wondered if she could graciously accept this sort of thing through years as his wife.

Women fawned upon him. There was the night of the Policemen's Ball, when that Park Avenue girl draped herself about him as they danced and then, as they were caught in the spotlight, kissed him squarely on the mouth.

Rena saw it—and also saw red. When Jack took her home she said, "If there's anything you would I deserve, it's a phialing punishment."

Jack laughed. "With that spoiled little brat? No one takes her seriously. Too much money and manmad."

"Look at you," continued Rena, icily. "Covered with lipstick! If anything like this ever happens again—well, we're through!"

"You're jealous, Sugar," chuckled Jack. "And do I love it."

The evening ended happily.

BUT there was more lipstick in Jack's life. Lipstick which wasn't Rena's. Returning from work one night, tired, cross, Rena found a note from Jack, stuck in a bundle at her door.

"Darling," it said. "I've asked one of the fellows to bring up my shirt and leave it at your door. Would you try to get the lipstick off it for me? I'm worried about it, because it's the initialled one you gave me for my birthday. I know that bad news raves fast, but don't worry about me. I'll phone you later. . . ."

Oh, he would, would he! Of all the crust—asking her to clean his lipsticked shirt! Rena stormed. Clean it? She'd clean him right out of her life!

When Flo entered a little later, Rena was frothing with fury. She paced the floor, waving the offending shirt as a red rag before the bull.

"What would you do to a man like this?" she demanded of Flo. "A guy who'd dare ask you to clean another woman's lipstick off his shirt! What would you do?" she screamed.

Flo shrank back. She said, "Lipstick. Haven't you read about it in the paper? Jack's a hospital beaten up. The Lipstick Killer turned up again, this time on the East Side. Jack cornered him in a cellar. It was a terrible fight, but Jack won, thank Heaven!"

Rena looked at the shirt as though it had suddenly turned to gold. She clutched it to her. "And I didn't even know," she whispered. "Get me a cab, Flo. Hurry. Call the florist. Order a dozen roses. American Beauties. Have them ready. I'll pick them up on my way in a minute. Hurry, Flo!"

She dashed for her hat and coat. Flo followed orders. "Steady, darling," she said when Rena was about to dash out the door. "There's something else. A card to enclose with the posies. I knew you were too shabby to write so I've done it for you."

Rena snatched the card. It read: "With My Heart In Beside Them."

"Thanks, darling," Rena called back over her shoulder. With my heart in beside them! As if Jack didn't know!

SMILE AWHILE

"Why does the giraffe have such a long neck?"

"Because the head is so far away from the body."

"You do keep your car well cleaned."

"It's only fair. My car keeps me well cleaned, too."

Dodd—I notice that in telling about that fish you caught you vary the size for different listeners.

Rodd—Yes. I never tell a man more than I think he'll believe.

"Isn't it terrible? I've waited here since 5 o'clock for my husband and now it's past six."

"And where were you supposed to meet him?"

"Four o'clock."

Said the vicar's wife: "I hear that you won a vacuum cleaner in the raffle, Mrs. Potts."

"Yes, ma'am," replied Mrs. Potts.

"But it's no use to me. I ain't got a vacuum."

Mazie: "Do you walk around with a grouch?"

Noelle: "No, dearie, I divorced him."

Customer in drug store: "I want some talcum powder."

Clerk: "Do you want it scented?"

Customer: "No, I'll take it with me."

"Some busbody has told my wife that I took you to a dance the other night," said the manager to his secretary.

"Well, what about it?" asked the girl.

"That makes you my former secretary."

"And then," said the man in the witness box, "my wife hit me with an oak leaf."

"Well, that couldn't have hurt you," remarked the magistrate.

"Oh yes, it did, sir. It was right in the centre of our dining room table."

The Negro called at the hospital and said: "I called to see how my friend Joe Brown was getting along."

The nurse said: "Why he's getting along fine; he's convalescing now."

"Well," said the Negro. "I'll sit down and wait till he's through."

After examining the proofs of his portrait, the customer got angry. "Do you call this a good likeness?" he stormed. "Have I a squint? Do I look like a prize-fighter? Do you, do you think I look like this picture?"

The photo, the customer, timid and tactful, replied:

"The answer, sir, is in the negative."

Visitor—"And how old are you, Bobbie?"

Bobbie—"I'm just at the awkward age."

Visitor—"Really? And what do you call the awkward age?"

Bobbie—"I'm too old to cry and too young to swear."

Food From Canada

Britain Is Grateful For What The People Of Canada Have Done For Them

On the closing day of the 4th Annual Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Conference held in Ottawa, December 3 to 5, Hon. James Gardiner, Dominion Minister of Agriculture read the following message he had just received by cable from Sir Ben Smith, British Minister of Food:

"My best wishes for successful outcome of Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Conference. Since the conference last year, we in the United Kingdom have passed from a state of war to one of peace but the problem of feeding our people is not easier. For all that you and the people of Canada have done during the war period, and particularly during the past twelve difficult months, to help us in this country we are deeply grateful."

"In particular I should like your farmers to know how valuable has been their contribution of wheat, bacon, beef, cheese, eggs and apples during 1945."

"When I spoke to you in October last over the Trans-Atlantic telephone and told you of my great difficulty in maintaining our three-ounce bacon ration, your ready response and the support we received from your countrymen saved the day. I cannot thank you enough for that."

"Equally I am specially grateful for the extra quantities of meat which Canada has supplied as result of the self-sacrifice which she imposed on their own consumption."

"Although the fighting is over the battle of food continues. Europe and other devastated areas are still in great need of assistance. Only by maintaining agricultural output at a high level during the coming year can needs be met. I hope that Canada will continue to ship to us United Kingdom surplus quantities of food which we shall need to maintain, and so far as circumstances make possible, improve the monotonous level of food consumption which we have accepted during the past six years."

Must Warn World

Of The Unspeakable Dangers From Use Of Atomic Bomb

Physicist Albert Einstein said in New York that the scientists who produced the atomic bomb must warn the world of the "unspeakable disaster" which will take place unless nations change their attitudes toward each other.

Einstein told the fifth annual Nobel anniversary dinner in a transcribed speech that the atomic bomb scientists were "harassed by an equal feeling of responsibility, not to say guilt."

The American and British people as "fighters of peace and liberty" were made trustees of the bomb, he said.

"But so far, we fail to see any guarantee of peace," he said. "We do not see any guarantee of the freedoms that were promised to the nations in the Atlantic Charter."

Victims Of War

Thousands Of Children Without Parents Wander In Ruins In German Cities

Thousands of hungry, half-clad children left without parents or homes are the most pathetic innocent victims of Hitler's war.

You see them everywhere in the larger German cities—white-faced, gaunt, cyst-bodies wandering amidst ruins, living by their wits until youth aid organizations find them.

It is officially estimated there are 14,000 homeless children in Munich alone. Many lost both parents in the war. Some of the youngest do not even know their names.

"And then," said the man in the witness box, "my wife hit me with an oak leaf."

"Well, that couldn't have hurt you," remarked the magistrate.

"Oh yes, it did, sir. It was right in the centre of our dining room table."

DOG BLAMED FOR ALARM

For the second time in Brantford, Ont., in recent weeks, police have been called out by "false alarms" turned in by watchdogs. In both cases, police discovered the dogs were merely lonesome and wanted to talk to the telephone operator.

Blackie, on the first night of guard duty at a shop, tipped over the telephone and started barking into it when the operator asked for the number.

GOOD NEWS

FOR CAR AND TRUCK OWNERS

New tire regulations add many additional classes of eligible buyers

Uncommon newsmen through Canada: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cole of Little Lake, Ont., celebrated their 69th wedding anniversary. Both are about 88. Birthdays—Mrs. Robert Richardson, Bowmantown, Ont., 98; Mrs. Timo, Langton, Kinburn, Ont., 94; Calvin Thos. Day, Port Alberni, B.C., 96; Chas. D. Farmer of Yarmouth, N.S., received his 80th birthday gift from the Herald-Telegraph which has been his home ever since he moved to the town 40 years ago. Snowmobile bus for bringing children from Thomas' Gore to Lachute, Quebec, high school, capacity 25, has been delivered, and propelled by a six-cylinder Chrysler motor. An acute ear shortage in Prince George, B.C. hospital forced them to put new arrivals in apple boxes, but soon of this label: "Grade Unwrapped, Grade in Okanagan Valley," and it worked admirably. A flock of Hungarians partridge swooped down, hurtled to death against C.N.R. pine near Viking, Alta., and one flew in striking Engine McMillan in the eye and blacked it. While on the run from Vankleek Hill to Bangor, N.B., a bullet crashed through the cab of a locomotive and nearly snuffed out the life of Hazel E. King, who was close to death. For the first time since Barric, Ont., was incorporated 92 years ago, there will be a woman on the town council. Mrs. Mary Louise Sasse, 31, a Savage of Manitou Beach, Sask., married a particularly large rabbit taken after several attempts, and came home triumphant. He then heard a loud noise outside and found the rabbit he wanted. It had trailed him home and was caught in the fence. . . . Returned from serving as secretary to the Director of Movement, C.H.Q., London, Sergeant (Miss) M. M. Mather came home to Estevan, Sask., and got the job as secretary-treasurer of the town. . . . Allie Morrison of Homewood district, Manitoba, had 23 turkeys and a dog killed by a marauding dog. He finally got him with a shotgun blast as he chased his way through the straw roof of a shed to get the remaining gobbler.

At Okanagan Mission, B.C., George Reeve levitated off a mound of sandy soil and came on the skeleton of an Indian, with three Indian axe heads, a hide scraper, flint spear heads and a stone tube blower. There were no signs of an Indian grave yard, and it is assumed he died fighting and his weapons were buried with him.

At Remarkable: Miss Betty Henry, 22, Bowmantown, Ont., found a dead, old, emaciated starling. She got it a living home, and it has now learned to whistle "Home on the Range", and has been taught to say words. Mrs. Margaret M. Nice of Chicago, greatest American authority on bird behavior, has taken an interest in this phenomenon.

Post-war recovery: More than 2,900 men will be absorbed by the mining industry in B.C. during 1946, according to a canvass of mining operators by the provincial department of mines. Of this number 800 will be men discharged from the armed forces.

Most of Alberta's exportable wheat now going to Vancouver to meet the demands from Russia, China and South America, and probably wheat will go to Britain from this port later on. Until recently the wheat was shipped in bulk, but Russia and other trans-Pacific nations now request that it shall be sacked. Sacking equipment at terminal elevators have therefore been installed.

More than 300 people, representing all classes of population, are taking night courses which include English, Spanish, drawing, painting, sewing, weaving and cooking in Arvida, Que. It is the first "University of the North" and came through the efforts of citizens, school authorities and industry. Admission fees are low. This is really something worth while.

According to the Peace River Block News, old-time Indian hunters returned from a 10-day hunting excursion in the great northland, and says moose, cariboo and deer, once so plentiful is becoming extinct as well as other wild life. Once fresh and green, he declares the country has been burned black, wild animals and birds disappearing. He covered about 200 miles in horseback hunting in the great northland. Indians all had same complaints, specially mentioning destruction of bird's nests and young partridge by bush fires.

But Will Written On Bible Is Something Quite Unusual

The first will written on a Bible to be filed at the courthouse in Victoria in the recollection of J. S. Gill, supreme court registrar, has turned up.

Written by an Irishman who resided at White Rock, B.C., the fly leaf gives his name, and his native Ireland, and with the address of his daughter in Belfast. On the reverse side of the same page is the will giving $100 to a friend and the remainder of the estate to the daughter in Ireland. It has been signed by two witnesses.

Because the page may not be removed the will will be filed.

"We've had some strangely written wills," said Mr. Gill, "but this is the first one we've filed in a Bible."

NATIONAL EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

Thousands of employers across Canada are using the facilities of the National Employment Service. If you are an employer and in recent months have not been availing yourself of the advantages of this service, why not make it your New Year's resolution to do so?

Canada's national employment service offers free service to all employers and employees regardless of whether the employees are insured. The national employment service has a country-wide organization which functions as a clearing house for employment opportunities and persons seeking work. If the employer requires a certain type of worker that is not available locally, the employment service will endeavor to find the right person from another area.

The national employment service may be compared to a stock exchange where buyers and sellers are brought together. It is a well known fact that if a stock is listed on the exchange it can be readily bought or sold. In the case of unlisted stocks there is greater difficulty in bringing the buyer and the seller together. If the employer lists his vacancy with the employment service, it is likely that it will be filled more quickly than if he attempts to find a suitable employee himself.

Take advantage of the facilities of this Dominion-wide organization. You will not only save yourself much valuable time, but you will avoid the expense of advertising. The national employment service is a free service—available to all.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

1946, a year of hope that humanity throughout the world will unite for the common good, is with us. It was ushered in by unprecedented hilarity throughout the world's principal capitals and large cities by people now free of the worries and cares of war. 1946 can fulfill the hopes of the peoples of the North American continent if the governments, capital and labor will sit down and talk over their common problems in a sense of fairness, one to the other, instead of the bitterness that is at present prevalent in the States today.

Merchants Should Unite

In the interests of themselves and in the townspeople Coleman merchants should give serious consideration towards the organization of a Merchants' Association.

Many benefits could be derived from such an association, including leadership, protection and progress. Today we see each merchant doing as best he can to run a successful business. They at times have to contend with persons who are deliberately out to "beat" them on heavy accounts, they wait to see what their competitor is going to do before they make known their plans, they lack a strong concerted voice in the community.

Through an association they can meet to discuss common problems, they can protect themselves against the "dead-beat" through a common plan which would be adhered to by all, specific closing hours can be drawn up and adhered to by all, they could and would take their rightful place at the head of community activity and progress.

Must Have More Pep

If the Rehabilitation "Gift Fund" is to reach its objective of $4,000 by the fifteenth of this month the Fund committee and citizens generally will have to show more interest. Now that Christmas and New Year's holidays are past and citizens have a chance to get back to a normal routine it is possible that the Fund will take a spurt towards its objective. Perusing the two lists which have been published one thing strikes us quite forcibly and that is some citizens should reconsider their donations. There are some credited with $1 who should be good for substantially more if the Fund is to reach its objective. It is time this campaign was slipping into high gear.

Our Big Civil Service

Serious consideration should be given to demobilizing the war-swollen civil service of the Dominion government, declares the Financial Post editorially.

"Before the war there were 44,000 people working for the Dominion government and the annual payroll amounted to $88 millions. This year those figures had risen to 150,000 people and $229 millions. That outlay is approximately half our pre-war budget, an utterly fantastic load for a country of only 12 millions to carry. Assuming that the average civil servant supports two dependents this means that, exclusive of the armed services, every 25th worker is on the Dominion government payroll."

Streets Should Be Properly Sanded

The streets during the past winter have been the most treacherous for walking that have been experienced in many years, due to ice conditions. Citizens, young and old, have been seen falling heavily to the ground with a number suffering severe sprain. On Wednesday a youngster fell and knocked herself out.

While some sand has been thrown occasionally on sidewalks it is in insufficient quantity and in insufficient places. The whole town's pedestrian lanes are under ice. It is high time that they were all sanded before someone breaks an arm or leg.

The Current Manpower Picture

On every hand it is reported by employers that their staffs could be materially increased if the Employment Service could produce some skilled men. Soil pipe manufacturers could put on double shifts if skilled masons could be supplied and thousands of unskilled men could be used on construction jobs if carpenters and bricklayers and other skilled tradesmen were available.

Given a few thousand skilled men, according to placement officers, the surplus would be absorbed very quickly.

Even the "book surplus of job-seekers" is not too factual because there is certainly still great absorption possibilities in certain types of work which is not too attractive to many—such as lumbering and logging, domestic and other such services, etc.

In the two weeks ending Nov. 9, the number of unplaced applicants registered with NES offices inworkers were needed, the male labor demand of almost 2,000 was confined largely to construction and bush workers. At Moncton and Chicoutimi outstanding requirements consisted chiefly of orders for loggers.

Throughout the Maritime provinces there were 11,153 job-seekers. When the over-all labor requirements of woods operations had been deducted, there remained 7,887 vacancies, of which more than 2,600 called for female labor. All these openings could be filled over night, if applicants were willing to leave their home areas.

Vacancies in the province of Quebec showed a drop of over 2,000, of which number more than 700 were for female workers. In the Montreal area alone, the number reached 28,500 mark, notwithstanding the fact that female labor requirements still exceeded available workers by 3,356. Further lay-offs in Quebec City, Shawinigan Falls, Sorel and Three Rivers had raised the total of unemployment for those four cities to 14,467 for 2,474 jobs were open.

Factories which are in the early stages of reconversion in Hamilton and St. Catharines have contributed to the exodus of labor and no doubt influenced Toronto, where applicants on Nov. 9 exceeded vacancies by 4,250.

The employment situation in Canada could be improved if workers were able to move from one district to another more easily, and if they were able to adapt themselves to the job opportunities waiting for them. Industrial productivity and Canada's living standards depend on the efficient use of both labor and material resources.

There has been a good response to the Department of Labor's Dominion-wide campaign for bushworkers, but at Nov. 9 the manpower requirements of woods operators across Canada were still far from satisfied. Orders in NES offices in the Maritimes stood at 3,300 and during the last week there had been an increase of almost 1,000 in unfilled vacancies in Quebec province, where 19,500 skilled and semi-skilled men were needed for pulpwood, lumbering and fuelwood operations.

The national advertising campaign has resulted in the placing of far more men in Ontario woods than in any previous year. On the prairies, too, the movement of farm workers to the logging industry and other off-seasonal employment has been proceeding steadily. A temporary delay in shipment of blankets and meat supplies recently forced two employers of woods labor in the Lakehead area to suspend the movement of men to their camps for a time. Owing to this holdup, orders for loggers in the Thunder Bay district had been reduced to 1,350 at Nov. 9.

British Columbia woods operations will be able to absorb more men as soon as skilled workers are released from the armed forces, and operators will be more willing to enlarge their staffs after the holiday season.

As winter draws on, the construction industry is reducing its orders for labor. However, at Nov. 9 shortages of men and materials were slowing up building activities to some extent in the Maritimes and Quebec. First-class construction tradesmen were in demand in Ontario, but between Sept. 21 and Nov. 2 orders for laborers had decreased 65 per cent. Bricklayers were still needed for the military hospitals in Toronto and London. There was a continuing demand for skilled building tradesmen in some prairie centres, but in British Columbia all construction projects were well supplied with manpower of all sorts.

In 29 foremost industrial centres of Canada, at Nov. 9, unfilled vacancies and unplaced applicants (in brackets) were: Halifax 2,663 (1,424), New Glasgow 213 (1,144), Sydney 103 (676), Moncton 1,817 (1,752), Saint John 847 (1,805), Chicoutimi 3,000 (926), Lewis 152 (1,752), Montreal 16,254 (28,497), Quebec 2,080 (9,056), Shawinigan Falls 35 (1,752), Sherbrooke 376 (676), Sorel 45 (1,768), Three Rivers 314 (2,508), Hamilton 2,198 (4,064), London 1,274 (1,157), Ottawa 634 (4,490), Toronto 2,107 (2,169), St. Catharines 294 (1,755), Toronto 13,101 (17,382), Windsor 383 (722), Fort William 1,550 (1,699), Winnipeg 3,576 (7,356), Regina 782 (1,220), Saskatoon 480 (1,454), Edmonton 1,989 (2,408), Calgary 1,216 (2,788), New Westminster 395 (1,494), Vancouver 4,955 (13,428), Victoria 644 (1,983).

For the Dominion as a whole and for the various regions, unfilled vacancies and unplaced applicants at Nov. 9 were: Canada 120,922 (160,029), Maritimes 11,233 (11,742) (21,832), Pacific 8,921 (19,081), Quebec 45,069 (57,211), Ontario 36,957 (50,742), Prairies 18,742 (21,832), Pacific 8,921 (19,081).

Camping In Waterton Lakes National Park

Hotel accommodation in Canada's national parks was rather limited during the war years and it is possible that this situation may continue for a while yet. It may even be aggravated to some extent by the large influx of visitors to the national parks expected during the 1946 tourist season. Improvements to camp ground facilities are, therefore, being carried out for the benefit of those visitors who are unable to make hotel reservations and the larger group who ordinarily prefer a holiday under canvas. The idea of a camping holiday is growing in popularity, and a great many vacationists are now bringing with them their own equipment or cabin trailer so that they will be assured of living accommodation during their sojourn in the parks.

Many existing camping places in the national parks are already equipped with electric light, running water, kitchen and community shelters, tables, camp stoves, fuel and modern sanitary facilities.

The money has to be "raised", too.

When there's a barn to be raised a man's neighbors . . . sometimes a whole community . . . often pitch in and help him do the heavy end of the work.

And as for the money needed for materials, that, too . . . although few people stop to think about it . . . often comes from co-operation, too.

Four million or more Canadian "neighbors" pool a part of their savings in Life Insurance. Their premiums add up to a huge sum, part of which is available for farm and town mortgages, so that when a farmer, for instance, wants to build, or enlarge, or renovate, he can raise the money readily.

The Life Insurance business is strictly a "neighborly" business . . . a great co-operative enterprise which aims at the protection of the people by the people.

LIFE INSURANCE

A Message from the Life Insurance Companies in Canada.

A portion of every dollar invested by the Life Insurance companies helps to finance farmers and town dwellers who occasionally need mortgage loans to realize their ambitions and get ahead. The remainder is invested in government and municipal bonds and other securities under government regulations. Every man who owns Life Insurance does more than safeguard the future of his loved ones . . . he also shares in Canada's progress.

Usually these camping places are within reasonable distance of supplies.

One of the popular camping areas for American and Canadian tourists alike is in Waterton Lakes National Park, down in the southwest corner of Alberta where the foothills begin growing into lofty mountain peaks. This park, together with Glacier National Park lying just across the border in Montana, forms what is popularly known as Waterton-Glacier International Peace Park.

The main camp ground in Waterton Lakes National Park is located on the Waterton townsite and covers an area of about thirty-five acres. It is traversed by Cameron Creek and is part of the alluvial "fan" on which the townsite is laid out. A very thin layer of top soil covers a deep bed of gravel, thus ensuring good drainage, and there are sufficient trees to provide shelter for the tents. On one occasion during the past summer 104 tents were counted on this camping ground, which is capable of accommodating more than twice that number in its present condition. It is equipped with kitchen community shelters and has electrical outlets for the convenience of those bringing cabin trailers. A caretaker looks after the camp grounds during July and August.

Still another camping place is located at the junction of Red Rock Canyon and Blackiston Brook, a favorite spot in the park. This camp ground has three cabin shelters equipped with camp stoves and there is a marm in attendance during July and August.

It is considered that these three equipped camping grounds, with perhaps some minor improvements, are sufficient to take care of the present needs of campers visiting the park. Anyone planning to stay at these camp grounds next summer should come provided with tents, poles, bedding, blankets, ground sheets, cooking utensils and the usual line of camping equipment. As the nights at this altitude (4,200 feet above sea level) are often quite chilly even in summer, it is advisable to bring along warm sleeping attire. If one has a genuine liking for camp life and comes properly equipped, a holiday under canvas in Waterton Lakes National Park will rank among one of the most interesting of life's pleasant experiences, besides providing an inexpensive form of travel education.

Waterton is one of the most colorful and charming of Canada's mountain playgrounds, rich in legend and historical interest, and is the home of the big game animals common to the Rocky Mountain region. Before the end of last century Waterton Lakes had already become popular as a place to camp and fish—a fact which, no doubt, prompted the Government of Canada to set the area aside as a public possession in 1895. Like other national parks it now belongs to the people of Canada for their benefit and use, and its primitive beauty and the wonders of its landscape will be maintained for the enjoyment of future generations.

N.E.S. FEATURING VETERANS' SKILLS FOR PROSPECTIVE EMPLOYERS

A comprehensive campaign through the medium of newspaper and radio directed to prospective employers, to popularize the ex-service men's trades' skills and qualifications, obtained while in the services, has been initiated by the Dominion Department of Labor, according to Arthur MacNamara, deputy minister.

Thousands of servicemen discharged from the forces are skilled or semi-skilled in many occupations directly applicable to civilian use, but thousands more have obtained experience, including the development of personality and good judgment, which will be invaluable to the future employer. Draftsmen, stationary engineers, mechanics, accountants, office workers and countless service trades that have civilian equivalents are listed with local offices of the National Employment Service. Many who were airframe mechanics, radar operators, carpenters, cooks and engineer personnel are fitted to take up employment with little or no specific civilian training. Over 250 "skilled" service trades are represented by ex-service men's applications for employment.

The Dominion wide appeal, addressed directly to "Mr. Employer," is designed to facilitate the bringing together of employer and the veteran especially through the agency of N.E.S., especially featured in the day to day national employment service advertising, "Employment News" and "Jobs Available," hand during the tourist season.

Due to its proximity to the business section of Waterton Park it is not usually necessary to organize entertainment for the campers, but at times the community building, which is equipped with an open fire-place, benches and tables, is used for sing-songs, get-together parties, wiener roasts, and such like. Almost everything the camper may need during his stay at this camp ground is obtainable in the park, only a few minutes' walk from where he has pitched his tent.

There are grocery stores (some of which sell fresh meat), a drug store, dry goods store, chino shop, novelty shops, a hardware store, service stations and garages, a restaurant and an ice cream parlor ready and willing to supply the needs of visitors.

Another equipped camp ground is located a few hundred yards north of Cameron Lake. It has room for about ten tents and is used mostly by anglers taking advantage of the unusually excellent fishing there. A small store and lunch counter some five hundred yards distant is available to campers. A caretaker looks after the camp grounds during July and August.

Still another camping place is located at the junction of Red Rock

Canyon and Blackiston Brook, a favorite spot in the park. This camp ground has three cabin shelters equipped with camp stoves and there is a marm in attendance during July and August.

MACDONALD'S BRIER

Canada's Standard Smoke

The F.A.O. And The Future

POST-WAR PROBLEMS are of such great magnitude that they cannot be speedily solved, and to many it appears the world is going to be very slow in emerging from the terrible effects of the Second World War. One of the first groups to formulate plans for a better future for themselves and for others was the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. Since the inaugural meeting of that body in Quebec City in the Fall, there has been continued interest in the program outlined there for the improvement of conditions for both farmers and urban workers. Delegates from more than forty nations who attended the meetings, returned to their homes optimistic for the future of the organization, but aware also of the tremendous tasks which lay ahead if their plans are to materialize.

Director Hopes For Success

Sir John Boyd Orr, famous Scottish nutritionalist, who was elected director general of the organization is very hopeful of the success of the undertaking. He believes that if there is co-operation among all nations there is no reason why a world of plenty and equality should be difficult to achieve. He is of the opinion that since farmers produce "the basic essentials for world survival" they should work under conditions as pleasant as those in any other industry, and that farmers should be provided with good roads, good schools for their children, power equipment and other amenities of modern living which many of them now do without. It is Sir John's belief that the world of tomorrow should bring happiness and prosperity to those who live on farms equal to that enjoyed by urban dwellers.

Canada Would Share Benefits

Improved standards of nutrition throughout the world is one of the most important factors in the plans made at the F.A.O. conference. A raising of the general level of nutrition would not only be of great benefit to people everywhere from the point of view of health and welfare, but it would also mean greatly increased demands for the products of agriculture. As in many fields, rapid advances were made in the study of nutrition during the war, and wherever it has been possible to apply the results of these studies there has been an increase in the use of milk, cereal products, fruit and numerous other farm products. If the objective of the Food and Agriculture Organization in raising the standards of nutrition is even partially achieved, it will affect the agricultural industry everywhere. Referring to this matter in a recent address before the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Producers in Regina, Mr. George McIvor, Chief Commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, said that Canada would share, perhaps more than any other country in the benefits of sound international co-operation.

Registered Seed

Is The Highest Class Of Seed Available In Canada

The highest class of seed available in Canada is Registered seed. When a farmer buys it, he has the assurance that it has been inspected, graded and sealed under standards registered by the Canadian Department of Agriculture.

Only worthy varieties of seed are eligible for registration and they must be from seed crops which have passed rigid inspection for trueness to type and freedom from disease. What is more, Registered seed is required to be produced under conditions that will safeguard its protection.

Certified seed is also inspected, graded and sealed under Government standards, but the requirements for seed crops producing certified seed are less stringent than for those produced by registered seed.

The class of seed known as Commercial carries no guarantee as to trueness to type. Those who sell it are responsible for its meeting the standards prescribed for commercial seed by Government regulations.

Prairie Fruit

Now Has Been Demonstrated That Fruit Can Be Grown In West

Enough has been done, mostly by individual effort to prove that edible fruits can be grown on the Western Prairies. Apples, crabapples, plums and several of the small fruits have been established on the prairies in orchards. Some are grown on official experimental farms, but many more have flowered and fruit in home gardens in both city and country.

Now something much bigger, holding great promise for the future, is afoot. An extensive and comprehensive plan for the breeding and testing of fruit for adaptability to the prairie west has been presented to the Ottawa authorities by the Western Prairie Society of Horticulture.

The program would embrace thirty testing stations and blanket all sections of the three Prairie Provinces—Edmonton Journal.

Oil Strike in Britain

Licenses have been granted to a British company to prospect for petroleum in two areas in Lancashire, Yorkshire and Durham. Largest British oil strike before the war was in Nottingham where present yield from the wells is 370 tons of oil a day.

Underground Reservoir

Isle of Thanet Turf has a huge underground reservoir which supplies water to 600 dwellings and 60 wells. Three hundred exquisitely-carved columns support the roof of the reservoir.

Help In Production

Canadian Farmers Will Have Part In New Wonder Drug

Canadian farmers will soon be playing an important part in the production of the new wonder drug streptomycin, which is used to combat such diseases as typhoid and dysentery. Milk sugar extracted from whey will be their contribution to medical science.

The agriculture department said the milk sugar extracted from whey and fed to the mould from which penicillin is refined, will also be used to produce streptomycin. And it is understood Canadian manufacturers are planning full-scale production of the new drug in the near future.

Production of both penicillin and streptomycin in Canada has been helped through the organization by the agricultural department of the collection of whey from cheese factories in parts of Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec.

Not Modern Now

School Buildings Have Changed Greatly In Last Forty Years

Perhaps the most remarkable changes in the past have been in school buildings. That many of our schools will be long obsolete and still remain good buildings, real monuments to their builders, but entirely unsuitable for the teaching of the type of education required. Boards of Education building in the future may well consider erecting a cheaper type of school, one with a life of 30 to 40 years, for if education and the types of school buildings now believed adequate, change as much in the next 40 years as we have had in past our modern schools today will in that time be completely out of the picture.—Peterborough Examiner.

WITHOUT RELEASE

None can make peace with evil—For what has evil to give?

What terms are those where the devil can offer his right to live?

What is war worth if the battle can end with a twilight truce—With men still driven as cattle,

And the breed of Cain left loose?

Freedom has no charter;

Liberty makes no claim?

What has evil to offer?

Where are the dead men's gains?

No; when the word is spoken—

That sacred sound of peace,

It must come with man's shackles broken,

And the devil beyond release?

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Will there be a change in coupon values now that the butter ration is cut from seven to six ounces per person per week?

A.—Each butter ration coupon will have the same value, which is half a pound. The reduction is effected by missing a butter ration coupon every fourth week.

Q.—I read in the daily paper that prunes and raisins will be more expensive. How much more will they cost me?

A.—Prices to consumers will be set at 25 cents a pound higher for raisins and prunes. There has been a substantial increase in California prices since 1941 and the decision has been taken to pass on a portion of this increase. This price increase applies only to the new crop.

Q.—Are meat pies rationed?

A.—Yes, meat pies are rationed and the ration value is sixteen ounces for one token.

Q.—Must a serviceman wait until he has been discharged before he is given his salt priority certificate?

A.—Priority salt purchase certificates are being issued to service men when they go on pre-discharge leave. This will take place about one month before they are ordered discharged.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumer News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Answer to Last Week's Puzzle

Saskatchewan Oil

Possibilities Of Extensive Development In The Province

Possibilities of an extensive oil industry in Saskatchewan were outlined recently by F. H. Edmunds, professor of geology at the University of Saskatchewan. Prof. Edmunds said that three wells, National Grant, S.A.C. No. 1, and Community Services No. 2, have produced a total of 9,640 barrels of oil between April and the end of October, and a number of wildcats have been drilled to demonstrate the extent of the field in the Lloydminster area.

Indications pointed to considerable development during 1946. Prof. Edmunds said, adding that forty-nine wells have been drilled in each of the 1946, to bring this comforting relief.

Health Survey

Co-operation Is Promised In School Health Survey

The recently-established National Committee for School Health Research whose aim will be the investigation of all phases of the health of school children, will receive co-operation of the Saskatchewan Department of Public Health and Education. It has been promised following the conference in Regina with Dr. A. J. Phillips, Toronto, who will direct the study.

The Saskatchewan sub-committee will be made up of the following members of the Health and Education Departments: Henry Janzen, director of curricula; Christian Smith, director of health education; Capt. C. G. Sheps, R.C.A.M.C., director of V.D. control; and Miss Elizabeth Smith, R.N., director of public health nursing. Dr. S. R. Laycock, professor of educational psychology, University of Saskatchewan, will be a consultant to the committee.

The National Committee was set up by the Canadian-Newfoundland Education Association and the Canadian Public Health Association. It has received a donation of $10,000 to finance the undertaking during the year.

The committee, assisted by provincial sub-committees, will make a general survey of conditions from coast to coast.

CANADIAN FARM LOAN BOARD DESIGNED TO HELP FARMERS MAKES A REPORT ON ITS WORK

OTTAWA.—The Canadian farm loan board, the Dominion government's loan agency designed to help farmers meet financial distress, has loaned more than $52,000,000 to 25,712 farmers since it began operations in 1929.

In reviewing its work in a report made public Saturday, the board said the average loan over its 16 years of operation was $2,000 and of the total monies loaned, $26,624,000 has been repaid by the farmers.

In the report the board said more than $6,000,000 has been loaned by the end of the current fiscal year. Money is loaned farmers to provide long-term borrowers with short-term credit on second and chattel mortgage security.

During 1943, mortgage payments have been good, the report said, and at March 31 of this year, 92 first mortgage borrowers out of 100 had no arrears. A total of 3,201 first mortgage loans were repaid in full during the year, an increase of 49 per cent. over the previous year and an increase of 300 per cent. over the average for the previous four years.

Since 1929, the cost of loaning funds has been gradually decreasing from 4.5 per cent. and money borrowed for housing after March 31, 1943, has been obtained at three per cent. from the Dominion government, the board report said. This enabled the board to make new first mortgage loans since that date at 4½ per cent., the extra 1½ per cent. being estimated as necessary to cover administration costs, pay unavoidable losses and set up necessary reserves.

HEAVY GALE

Lashes European Coast And Causes Much Damage

LONDON.—The European coast and ocean traffic suffered under the shock of a gale which wreaked coastwise damage and turned eastern Atlantic shipping lanes into mountain seas.

The Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Richmond, carrying Britain-bound troops, was damaged after turning back to Gibraltar from the south-westly blow coming in from the west.

A dispatch to Reuters news agency from the 35,000-ton United States battleship Washington said the warship, homeward bound with 1,500 American soldiers from Europe, was being swept by an 87-miles-an-hour hurricane.

The English channel felt the full force of the blow as the southwest and west coasts of England continued in the gale's 24-hour grip. Ships, unable to make port, rode out the storm at anchor.

London reported a 75-mile gale sank small Portuguese craft, wreaked plantations and washed waves of the Tagus river into the lower reaches of Lisbon.

SCHEDULE FOR THE RELEASE OF MANY CANADIAN TROOPS IN HOLLAND AND GERMANY

AMSTERDAM.—A schedule released for the cleanup of all Canadian troops in Holland and Germany except the occupational force, showed that the last elements of head-quarters, Canadian forces in the Netherlands, will leave Holland for the United Kingdom Jan. 31, the final repatriation draft.

The bulk of headquarters forces will break up Jan. 2 when No. 51 company, C.W.A.C., and No. 1 Canadian base post office also move.

The full-time table follows:

Dec. 28—Headquarters army troops area.

Dec. 30—Miscellaneous drafts from No. 1 Canadian ordnance demobilization depot.

Dec. 31—No. 1 company catering pool.

Jan. 1—Canadian sections of the 1st and 2nd echelons, general headquarters, other than parts required for the occupation force.

Jan. 2—Headquarters Canadian forces in the Netherlands, less elements required to supervise the remainder of the repatriation; Canadian base reinforcement battalion; 51 company, C.W.A.C.; No. 1 Canadian base post office.

JOB SENIORITY

Canadian Congress Of Labor Outlines Its Policy For Veterans

OTTAWA.—The Canadian Congress of Labor in a statement outlining its position on job seniority for veterans, said there was "no justification in a competitive struggle between civilian workers and veterans for non-existent jobs."

The congress said the statement was issued as a result of the endeavor of the Canadian Legion to establish a preference for veterans without respect to seniority.

The policy adopted by the congress provides that members of the services who return to their former employment shall be granted seniority for the full period of their service, including the right to any promotions for which they had been eligible, the congress said.

"In the case of former members of the forces not employed prior to enlistment, who obtain employment in industry within six months of the date of their discharge or the completion of any subsequent training, the congress has recommended to its affiliated and chartered unions that these workers be granted seniority on the same basis as if they had been employed in the industry at the time they entered the service."

"In the opinion of the congress, there is no justification for a competitive struggle between civilian workers and veterans for non-existent jobs. Common objective must be the provision of employment, and the responsibility for employment must be laid upon a government and industry."

The congress again offers to cooperate with government, industry, veterans' organizations and other groups in the effort to have industry operated in such a manner as to provide jobs and adequate incomes for every Canadian worker."

BRITISH TROOPSHIPS

Must Purchase All Supplies In England And Not In Canada

MONTREAL.—The British ministry of war transport was reported here to have ordered all British troopships bringing Canadian servicemen home to purchase all supplies of foodstuffs in England and not in Canada.

Reason for the change was believed to be the sterling-dollar-area exchange situation and the policy was expected to remain in force until some sort of loan can be negotiated between the Canadian and British governments along the lines of that which has just been ratified between Britain and the United States.

More than $1,000,000 worth of Canadian supplies would be affected by the move.

North Country Wants To Have Seat In Government

TORONTO—Lloyd (Shorty) Nelson and Andy Hay, pioneer members of the fraternity that rolled back the frontiers about Yellowknife in the Northwest Territories, are in Toronto now and say the Yellowknife country is incensed at having no representation in parliament.

As a part of the Northwest Territories Yellowknife now comes under the administration of the Northwest Territories council of seven members. The seat of government is at Ottawa.

"You can't run a big country like ours from Ottawa," said Hay.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Royal Family Dances With Servants At Buckingham Palace

LONDON.—King George and Queen Elizabeth, with the two princesses, danced with the royal servants at the annual household staff canteen Christmas party in the gaily-decorated servants' hall of Buckingham palace.

For the first dance, a waltz, the Queen took the floor with her page, Prince Edward, dressed with the wife of an underbutler, and Princess Elizabeth walked with a chef.

"It is not a matter of her fighting in the war—great as that was—which helped her stature. Her inventiveness and economic resources helped to raise her to her present high position."

Mr. Morrison said he expected to land at Halifax after a sea voyage to Canada and to return home by air.

MOVEMENT OF POPULATION FROM RURAL TO URBAN AREAS IS EXPECTED TO CONTINUE

WORK WILL PROCEED

Irrigation Dam In Alberta To Be Started In Spring

CALGARY.—The Dominion government has decided to go ahead with the $3,500,000 St. Mary's irrigation dam at Spring Coulee, Alta., in the spring of 1946; it was learned in official circles.

The project has long been urged by the southern Alberta water conservation council, the Calgary and Lethbridge boards of trade, farm organizations and other groups interested in the agricultural development of southern Alberta.

When the estimates for the dam were first prepared and forwarded to Ottawa, it was estimated that the earthen dam would likely take three years to construct. The initial work, which is expected to start in the spring, will cost in the neighborhood of $500,000 all of which will be provided by the federal government.

The St. Mary's and Milk rivers both begin in the state of Montana and flow into Canada, the streams bordering between the two countries by treaty.

The dam is the key to the whole Lethbridge southeastern water scheme that will cost more than $15,000,000 before it is completed.

RESUMES DUTIES

General Stalin Back In Moscow After Two Months' Vacation

LONDON.—Generalissimo Stalin, 65, has returned to Moscow from a vacation of more than two months, the Moscow radio said. It reported that Gen. Stalin, who had been vacationing on the Black Sea since Oct. 9, returned to the capital and "re-assumed his duties."

Premier Stalin's return coincided with the opening in Moscow of the conference of foreign ministers of Great Britain, the United States and Russia.

Comments regarding Gen. Stalin's health, denied by authoritative Moscow sources, were published throughout the world when he failed to attend the 28th anniversary of the Red revolution last Nov. 7.

LONDON.—Herbert Morrison, government leader in the House of Commons, who is about to relax with a trip to Canada after Christmas, in an interview with The Canadian Press looked back over the Labor government's busy months since the general election in July and said with a cheerful cockney grin: "Well, there's no sign of chaos or mudde."

In a house with scores of new members, unfamiliar with parliamentary procedure, the house leader said he saw a mass of legislation handled effectively.

"There may be mistakes but they thought," said Mr. Morrison, who is Lord President of the council in the Attlee government.

In his large office, Mr. Morrison leaned back on his chair and spoke jubilantly of leaving London just after Christmas for his visit to Canada and the United States.

"You know, I am looking forward to this," said the short, portly Londoner, "I have been longing to go for a long time and I am sure my visit will make me more useful in my British cabinet duties. From what they tell me of Canada, I will have a good time as well as an interesting time."

Thus far he has spent 10 minutes in Canada—in 1938 he crossed to Windsor, Ont., from Detroit and sent his wife a postcard saying he was in Canada.

He said he was grateful that he was not going away to the Dominion on a visit with the tight schedule of the war minister. His conversations with the Dominion government at Ottawa would be informal. "But there is a long list of things we can talk about—of commonwealth, economic and general interest."

Mr. Morrison said he was going to see a Canada whose stature and importance had greatly increased since before the war.

"More and more Canada has become powerful and effective in the councils of the world," he said.

"It is not a matter of her fighting in the war—great as that was—which helped her stature. Her inventiveness and economic resources helped to raise her to her present high position."

Mr. Morrison said he expected to land at Halifax after a sea voyage to Canada and to return home by air.

OTTAWA.—Canadian cities will continue to expand and rural populations will become proportionately smaller, the reconstruction department predicts on the basis of a war industry survey.

Population shifts during the war are not likely to be reversed immediately.

With a larger proportion of the population now seeking wage-earning employment than in 1939, workers who have migrated to another province during the war period "are not likely to wish to return to their former places of residence or will only return in small numbers over a period of time," the department reported.

The war engendered a major movement of population—its reversal to urban areas with concentration particularly around the larger cities. For the first time in Canadian history there became evident—with the exception of British Columbia—a decrease in the population of counties which were predominantly farm areas. Those counties lost not only natural population increases but a share of pre-war populations as well.

"During the period 1941-44, 265,000 farm residents and 25,000 other rural non-farm dwellers have been uprooted and funnelled into urban areas," the department said. "The result has been very rapid growth for metropolitan areas which gained 237,000 population due to in-migration."

The main drift was from the prairies to Ontario and British Columbia. Quebec contributed slightly to the migration but Saskatchewan was the main contributor.

Some metropolitan-area growth was directly attributable to war industries but the movement was in effect a continuation of a pre-war trend.

"If urban centres continue to experience moderate prosperity in the post-war period this shift of population is likely to continue," it was predicted. "The industrialized centre of the country will likely continue to attract and absorb population from the distant regions. Concentration of the population in metropolitan areas will continue."

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Adams and baby, of Calgary, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Tolman and young son, of the Queen Charlotte Islands, left on Sunday for their respective homes following a visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Easton, which lasted over the Christmas holidays.

The Bridge Club members gathered at the home of Mrs. J. McDonald recently. Two tables of bridge were in play. Following cards a dainty lunch was served, after which Mrs. A. B. Westworth, soon to leave Coleman, was presented with a beautiful picture of Crows Nest Mountain and received the best wishes of her friends in her new home. Mrs. Westworth ably expressed her thanks for their good wishes and beautiful gift.

The musical end of the program was most enjoyable. Sonny Richards passed around song books containing many old favorites. When they had been finished a gramophone-radio combination was put into play and the old maestro, Bing Crosby himself, led in numerous Christmas carols, which were thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Rippon left on Saturday, Dec. 29, for Maple Creek, their first scheduled stop to eastern Canada. At Maple Creek they were the New Year's guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McKinnon, old-time friends.

THE JOURNAL COLEMAN, ALBERTA

Mr. Everett Price, of Kimberley, was in town this week to visit relatives and friends. He was accompanied back to the BC city by Oliver Barringham, who will visit there for a few days.

The Journal received a pleasant surprise at the week end when a letter was received from Frank Barringham, the first in several years. Two days later a small calendar was received from the Cosy Corner Coffee Bar, of which Frank is proprietor. His letter revealed that he is still intensely interested in sports, especially wrestling and hockey. Frank is once again a regular Journal reader, having taken out a subscription for 1946.

MISS MARION BANBLING

FRASER—In Loving Memory of our dear husband and father, James Fraser, who passed away on Jan. 6, 1941.

Sweet memories will linger forever;

Time cannot change them, it's true.

Years that may come cannot sever

Our loving remembrance of you.

Ever remembered by his loving wife and family.

FRASER—In Loving Memory of our dear son Jim, who died on Jan. 6, 1941.

This month brings back sad memories,

Of our son gone to rest;

And those who think of him today

Are those who loved him best.

Those often drift to scenes long past,

Time rolls on but memories last, Those who loved never forget, In memory he is with us yet.

Inserted by his Dad and Maw.

HAYSON — In Loving Memory of our dear wife and mother, Ann Hayson, who passed away on Jan. 6, 1940.

We have only a memory, dear mother.

We cherish our whole life through;

But the sweetness will live forever

As we treasure the memory of you.

Ever remembered by husband and family.

had established their home on the west coast. Before closing he made known the fact that the social evening that night was also a birthday party to him as the 20th was his birthday. The gathering immediately gathered round and sang "Happy Birthday to You." Before luncheon was served Rippie was lustily given the old riposte, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."
